A poised leopard emerges from a deep black ground in this dramatic acrylic portrait, bringing modern safari style into sharp focus. Glittering accents across the coat add a subtle jeweled texture, while the clean black frame and broad white surround give the composition a gallery-finished presence that heightens its contrast and detail. The forward stance and extended paw create a sense of motion that makes this piece especially striking above a console, bed, or living room mantel, where its blend of glamour, wildlife imagery, and crisp framing can anchor the space with confidence.
